

Management consulting

People centered – Scientifically valid

People are at the center of every economic and entrepreneurial success.

Any company can gain optimal economic outturns if the required “human resources” can be integrated efficiently.

Whether CEO, directorate or general manager – you all define the direction your economic path is taking and you are in charge of the steering wheel. But every company needs a highly motivated and reliable crew to sail through the seas of economy.

We are your pilot

We encourage your management and your employees and advice you in issues of restructuring, reorientation, modification and optimization concerning your management and organisation structures. We aim with you at an optimised organisation and personnel management on the basis of a scientific and systematic consulting.

Contact us! We are happy to help!

Contact:

Martin Koplin

Managing Director

M2C Institut für angewandte Medienforschung und Kultur GmbH

Phone: +49-421-5905-5402

Email: koplin@m2c-bremen.de